

Something really clever here:

And maybe a second line

You can also have a subtitle

---

Your Name Here and Some Other Person

2016-07-01

A Section Header

---

A Subtitle

- Point A
- Point B
- Point C

Resources

---

Main Repos

- Official GitHub Repo of Metropolis (formerly mtheme); older version in TeXLive
- My GitHub Repo for a local Ubuntu package of Metropolis – formerly mtheme
- My GitHub Repo for a local Ubuntu package for the Fira font

Briefly

- The packages which can be built (ie not Fira as it needs external fonts which we cannot download during build) are in this repo
- If you're not on Ubuntu, it is probably more work to get
  - Metropolis into your  $\text{\LaTeX}$ environment
  - the Fira font into your  $\text{\LaTeX}$ environment
- I did try without (on plain Ubuntu 16.04) and it builds but looks less crisp
- So for the time being you probably want these fresh from source, or via my helpers. YMMV.

- mtheme and metropolis changed a bit since I first used them
- I started with a local modification I called m2; the package is still in the launchpad repo
- I generally include a file header.tex from the YAML for color, font, ... tweaking at the  $\text{\LaTeX}$  level, but as these are presentation-specific I didn't include any changes here.

Breakout page example

Going Forward

- Questions etc: Open issue tickets at the GitHub repo
- Pull requests welcome for bug fixes, extensions, examples, ...